ENGLISH COURSE: “COMMUNICATIVE

ENGLISH” (01.09.2025)

The School of Languages at Chhatrapati Shahu Ji Maharaj University, Kanpur, is initiating a Certificate Course in Communicative English. Specially designed to address a critical skill gap in the current professional and academic landscape, this initiative aims to empower students and working professionals with skilled English Communication skills.

The course has been developed in response to a clearly identified need. As highlighted by companies visiting the university for placements, a significant number of candidates struggle with English language comprehension and communication. This often creates a "big crisis" during job interviews, where candidates are unable to present themselves effectively or answer questions confidently.

Dr. Diksha Shukla, the course coordinator, stated, "Through this Communicative English Certificate course, we are working to prepare children as well as professionals... when he/she does this course, he will not only answer the questions asked in English, but it will also increase his confidence level significantly."

The primary objectives of this course are to enhance the spoken English and written English proficiency. This course builds confidence for academic and professional success, particularly in interviews and meetings and providing practical, colloquial language skills along grammatical foundations.

This course focuses on the curriculum beyond just grammar, placing a strong emphasis on colloquial English. The participants will engage in daily practice sessions to build fluency. The key feature is that no special qualification is required for enrolling and is open to students, competitive exam aspirants and employed professionals. Under the guidance of Dr. Sarvesh
