Community outreach services through supporting Anganwadi centres

a-Title:

Community outreach services through supporting Anganwadi centres

b-Objectives of the practice:

The Anganwadi Sahbhagita programme at CSJMU is an excellent community outreach service motivated by a goal to support the existing Anganwadi centres. The university is committed to 'helping the helper', and by strengthening the Anganwadi centres, CSJMU strives to provide assistance to underprivileged children and aid in support of their development, health and education. A secondary objective of this community outreach activity is to foster the development of initiatives by the Indian government to provide learning opportunities and improve the quality of life for children. Further, by joining hands with the industrialists of Kanpur and Directors/Principals of the colleges affiliated to the university, CSJMU ensures local community participation in the improvement of educational facilities in rural areas. Aside from that, CSJMU is committed to providing all the necessary support and assistance to Anganwadi workers in every way possible.

c-Context:

Children are the foundation of any society and the welfare and progress of a community is dependent on the development of its children. In rural communities, because of economic considerations, children become the first casualty of parental/community neglect and this aspect needs to be tackled effectively.

As part of our students' and teachers' community service with children affected by tuberculosis and their families, it was discovered that the Anganwadi centres in the vicinity had limited access to educational equipment and resources. Thus, these centres could be leveraged effectively to create a meaningful connection between the target and the resource provider.

A report highlighting these issues was prepared by the university, which resulted in a proposal that was presented before the Honorable Chancellor Madam to improve the condition of Anganwadi centres (and through them of the children in their catchment area) and equip them with the necessary educational tools and facilities. With this goal in mind, a remarkable effort through CSJMU was initiated by Honorable Chancellor Madam to provide a better learning environment and resources to the students who attend the Anganwadi centres as well as ensuring that the children attending them receive the quality education that can help them succeed in the future.

Since then, our Vice Chancellor Prof. Vinay Kumar Pathak and his team have been continuously working hard to empower Anganwadi centres. With the help of industrialists and Directors/Principals of the affiliated colleges, the university provides learning materials, furniture and educational equipment to the centres and supports their programme in every possible way. This facilitates the development, education, and equal treatment of children, as well as creates a healthy and creative environment for children. CSJMU has always done its utmost to lay the foundations for proper physical, psychological and social development of children.

Bringing its support to the Anganwadi centres, the University is implementing its goals and strengthening the niche of improving rural child care in our country through the implementation and strengthening of the programme.

d-Practice:

Through this programme, CSJMU aims to provide sweet moments and merriment associated with childhood to the children at Anganwadi centres. Through the University's circular, CSJMU students and faculty are encouraged to celebrate their birthdays with children at these centres. Birthdays of children attached to the centres is also celebrated to help them experience childhood joy. Furthermore, the university also tries to recreate the same levels of imagination and facilities in our Anganwadi children as convent-going children receive. To do this, as part of a group effort, several University members joined forces and developed a list of aesthetically pleasing materials in the form of a 'kit', which helps both children's growth and education in addition to making them happy, upgrading their learning ability and improving their quality of life. A typical kit contains toys (numbers, blocks, animals, rings, balls), puzzle games, skipping ropes, clay for children's fun and recreational activities; tricycles, toy horses to ride and enjoy; white boards, markers, dusters, educational maps, and story books (panchtantra), play books to promote education and learning skills; fruit and other nutritional supplements to support their health, development and overall wellbeing; weighing machines and height gauges to monitor children's growth, first aid boxes for medical needs, hand wash and sanitizers for maintaining hygiene, furniture (kidney-shaped tables and chairs) for children to sit and perform different activities, utensils (plates, saucers, spoons, glasses) for smooth functioning of daily routines and steel boxes for storage.

Until now, CSJMU has strengthened 265 Anganwadi centres in Kanpur. As part of this initiative, Anganwadis from Etawah and Farrukhabad districts were also empowered with the kits to nurture their children.

Aside from that, through a variety of different university programmes, pregnant Anganwadi workers have also been provided with supplements for completing their nutritional requirements and maintaining their health. A strong bond has developed between the University and Anganwadi workers which helps in the smooth functioning of activities. It helps us understand what they need and gives us the chance to help them in every way we can.

e-Evidence of Success:

Nothing can be a bigger evidence of success other than the outcomes in terms of learning, happiness and motivational levels of the children which have been the basic focus of this outreach.

However, what CSJMU sees in this best practice apart from the above, is the smile and glow on the child's face that comes with receiving the gift. There is nothing better in the world than seeing children having fun, learning, and improving in all aspects of their lives which gives them the opportunity to grow in a positive direction. Most of our services were performed in our honorable Chancellor Madam's presence who gave her blessings to our programmes. As part of this initiative, the table below shows the number of programmes conducted so far along with the dates and number of kits donated for the mission.

Table showing Anganwadi sahbhagita programmes:

S.No.	Anganwadi District	Date of the Programme	Number of Kits donated
1.	Kanpur	28 July 2021	75
2.	Kanpur	25 November 2021	125
3.	Etawah	02 September 2021	20
4.	Farrukhabad	03 September 2021	20
5.	Kanpur	22 March 2023	25

Working hand-in-hand with the Government in their mission has been a rewarding experience for the University. Due to the efforts of the university number of children coming to the university-supported Anganwadi centres are increasing. CSJMU will continue to do so by helping children, common people, the elderly and participating in additional community activities that may come up in the future. The University has planned to strengthen the remaining Anganwadi centres of Kanpur District and other districts under University's Jurisdiction which will go a long way in creating a strong foundation for growth by making these children more ready than ever to face challenges in the real-time world.

f-Problems encountered and resources required:

Pilots at various centres have reported favorable outcomes in terms of overall betterment of children. A larger footprint would require to be funded consistently for not only initiating the intervention but also sustaining it to ensure that the fruits of the initial intervention are not lost over a period of time. Hence, the biggest resource required is a consistent pipeline of funds which would ensure that trained Anganwadis, through their centres, are able to achieve the desired outcome.

Those who help others are blessed by God, which is why we got the hands of the Industrialists of Kanpur and colleges affiliated with the university, who have partnered with us in this mission and donated funds to make this possible. As each Andanwadi kit costs Rs. 50,000, a total of one crore twenty lakhs worth of kits have been purchased (Rs. 1 crore 20 lakhs) to date, and these kits have been distributed to Anganwadis to promote community service and awareness. Due to the strong ties and efforts of the University with the community at both ends, we have not faced any problems or limitations in terms of resources so far. As a result of the help and support of our partners and the blessings of the honorable Chancellor Madam, we hope to overcome all obstacles and complete the task to which we are committed.
