About the Conference

The leadership of India among G-20 Nations gives India a special platform to showcase its excellence and potential for becoming a global leader. To cope with the continuous process of change and fast growth for achieving this goal, the Indian society needs to be organized in a way that all individuals are able to play an active, constructive role. With the largest young work force in the world and its fast-expanding economic base, India has the opportunity to change the global future like never before. Apart from other changes, the Indian education system needs to be revisited to ensure that India can take the optimum advantage of its potential.

Currently, the education system is struggling with the need for provisions that can equip the learners to deal with low productivity, low employability, and social issues. For a sustainable future, the education system needs to develop learners who are responsibly engaged in a self-directed, continuous process of learning across formal, non-formal and informal settings and beyond disciplinary boundaries. Individuals need to develop skills and attitudes to work and grow in changing environments and become multipliers in a positive process of change, aligned with the country's aspirations. The New Education Policy 2020 has opened possibilities for constructive change and while its implementation is unfolding, various stakeholders have the opportunity to contribute in the best ways possible.

The Department of Lifelong Learning at Chhatrapati Shahuji Maharaj University (CSJMU), Kanpur is glad to take this opportunity for bringing up international and national perspectives about implementing lifelong learning and highlighting some most promising aspects of making lifelong learning a reality in India. Through the Conference, the department aims at contributing to the ongoing debate in the society about how lifelong learning can contribute for the betterment of the society and what could be the most constructive strategies for supporting the country to fulfill its aspirations. The Department of Lifelong Learning, CSJMU thus proposes to conduct a 2-days International Conference on the theme: Beyond Education: Making Lifelong Learning a Reality in India on the 11th and the 12th of December 2023.

The idea behind the conference is to invite international and national experts, discuss their perspectives regarding the success stories of lifelong learning in their contexts and then reflect about what might work in the Indian context. The conference will showcase the open approach of the Indian academia to welcome inputs from all over the world in the interest of promoting growth and development of the country by promoting constructive learning opportunities. Perspectives from science (research), policy, profession and practice would be put in dialogue to develop insights regarding “what works, when, where, why and how for the implementation of lifelong learning in various contexts”, “what lessons can be drawn from the implementation of lifelong learning all over the world” and “what might be relevant for implementing lifelong learning in India”.

Organizing Committee feels Beyond Education: Making Lifelong Learning a Reality in India will be helpful in enhancing knowledge about Life Long Learning provide some new aspects to the society.

We extend a warm invitation to attend and participate in the Beyond Education: Making Lifelong Learning a Reality in India at Chhatrapati Shahu Ji Maharaj University, Kanpur. We also invite research papers for the presentation and publication.

Kindly register yourself as soon as possible.
