The session turned out to be super engaging and interactive. Students took part in fun activities, shared their thoughts, and picked up some really practical tips on confidence-building, communication, and self-awareness.

What made the evening special was how the workshop mixed real-life insights with simple wellbeing tools that everyone could relate to. Instead of being a typical talk, it felt like a friendly space where we could reflect, learn, and grow together.

Participants walked away feeling more motivated, positive, and connected with each other. Many even suggested having such sessions more often.

Overall, it was a refreshing and inspiring evening—definitely a step towards building a stronger and more self-aware hostel community.

Health week activity

Date 08/09/2025

Body Mass Index (BMI) check was successfully conducted for all residents of Shivaji Boys Hostel in the Mess Hall, as per the notice circulated earlier.

The response from students was good, with residents from all blocks participating actively in the health check.

The BMI check revealed that the majority of students were within the normal range, while some were found to be underweight and a smaller number fell in the overweight or obese category.

The activity created health awareness among students and encouraged them to pay attention to their eating habits, exercise routines, and overall lifestyle.

It was observed that irregular eating schedules, lack of proper diet, and limited physical activity were the main reasons behind unhealthy BMI values in a section of students.

It is recommended that the hostel continue to provide balanced meals, promote physical activities and sports, and organize regular BMI checks every six months to monitor and improve the health status of the residents.
